Re: 2011 Crop Letter

2010 has certainly turned out to be another challenging year. Even when you talk to the old timers they can't remember a fall as wet as last fall. But with virtually every commodity price up from last year your crop insurance coverage should exceed your input costs. That is a pretty good feeling especially with the wet conditions we have experienced these past few years.

We will be holding our annual spring crop meeting on Wednesday February 23rd at the Sleep Inn in Minot located in the Dakota Square Mall. Our meeting will start at 5:00 pm with a social hour and supper to follow for both you and your spouse. I have enclosed a reminder card for you to place on your refrigerator so you don't miss this very important meeting. Curt Christofferson from NAU Country Insurance will be the key note speaker. Curt will be discussing the new crop insurance changes for 2011. These changes range from the new combo policies and prevent planting guidelines to the 2009 SURE disaster program.

As always we will be visiting with each and every one of you so we can design the best crop insurance program to fit your individual needs. In closing, I would like to once again thank you for your continued support. Your confidence and trust in Town & Country Insurance is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Craig Johnson
